About

Ready to take your makerspace to the next level? Join this webinar with Gina Seymour, library media specialist and developer of the MakerCare initiative, to learn how to use your makerspace to teach empathy and compassion while your students #MAKE the world a better place. Discover how to build community partnerships, effectively collaborate with staff in your school, and initiate projects from simple, low- and no-cost enterprises to advanced 3D models. Implementing a service-based program can increase the scope of your library makerspace through nurturing philanthropic qualities and instilling an empathetic mindset in your students. Participate in a webinar that will Make a Difference!

Join us to:

- Examine the maker movement in relation to community service and civic engagement
- Learn how to create tangible, easy, low-cost projects
- Understand the keys to building beneficial community partnerships
