About

In these times of rampant misinformation in the media, it's exceedingly crucial to nurture students' critical thinking. Watch this webinar to learn easy-to-replicate strategies that you can implement with students to help them examine their relationship with digital media and become savvy and responsible content consumers, creators, and distributors of information.

Attendees will learn how to:

- Teach students to recognize their own biases
- Equip students with the skills to read intelligently with skepticism and empathy
- Collaborate with colleagues to carry out standards-based lessons around media literacy
